With effect from 1st September 2013 the DfE implemented new Statutory Guidance and Advice, amending the Education Regulations (Pupil Registration 2006) act. These amendments removed reference to family holiday and extended leave as well as the statutory threshold of ten school days. The amendments make clear that head teachers may not grant any leave of absence during term time unless there are exceptional circumstances.

Whilst we understand that some absences may include times when your child is ill or attending appointments, preferably out of school time, it is important that we all work together to try to ensure that your child has the best possible chance of success by attending school as often and as regularly as possible.

Parents are warned that if they take their child(ren) out of school without permission they will be committing an offence under the Education Act 1966. Schools may refer the matter to the Education Welfare Service who may decide to prosecute. A conviction may result in a fine of up to £2,500, a prison sentence of up to three months or both. Alternatively, a penalty notice may be issued under Section 444A and 444B of the Education Act 1966. This carries a fine of £60 if paid within 21 days or £120 if paid after this, but within 28 days. Failure to pay the penalty notice will result in Court action.

If you have a problem getting your child to school let us know. We may be able to help.

Whilst requests for 'exceptional leave' will be considered on an individual basis, those that do not meet the requirements of the Department for Education's guidelines cannot be granted and the Falmouth Schools Partnership will not permit holiday leave:

- where pupils'/students' attendance in the current term and over the previous two terms is less than 95%
- where pupils'/students' have a poor record of punctuality and/or need to catch up on work
- if any leave has been granted previously during the same school year
- during the month of September
- during ANY examination/assessment period, including mock exams and/or SATs
- for students in years 10 and 11
