

An Lester Trumach - The Packet Ship

1 February 2016

Dear Parents

Lightsabers...

... not quite how I would spell 'sabre', but I looked it up on line as this Star Wars icon has found its way in to Marlborough's playground, perhaps due as much to the current absence of some of our other outdoor play materials as to the popularity of the film itself! We are eager that where children (it's mostly been juniors which is probably appropriate) do bring in such toys they enjoy their play and that those who don't wish to join in any duels are left free to enjoy their break-times uninterrupted!

We've discussed lightsabers with the juniors and explained that they are to be used with Jedi skill and sensitivity – any contact with another lightsaber or body is likely to result in a dangerous release of the Higgs-Boson particle which in Marlborough terms will simply mean that they have to be banned, something we would rather avoid.

In fact, we are keen to make the tyres and other equipment properly available again, but need to make sure that we can keep it all safe from the unwelcome visitors who rolled tyres around the community or broke gutters etc. If you anyone has any strong but lightweight chain available to help us lock tyres securely, please let the office know.

As mentioned last week, the school's environment (for learning and play) is a priority area. Thank you for your support of y3's Cake Bake, which raised £130.11. We will hold an after-school Fun and Fund-Raising meeting soon after we return from half term (date to be confirmed) and don't please forget the Headteacher's Coffee Morning at 08:45 on Friday 12th February 2016.

Kitchen We'd also like to remind you that parents are welcome to book a lunch and to come in and enjoy it with their children. There's always a good choice including vegetarian and soup options. Just ask at the office.

Feed

Is your tummy rumbling? Well if it is then not to worry as a Marlborough School cook-book is on its way...

Freshly prepared by a hungry young chef and served up by a team of plucky parents, Feed is a visionary new cook book in the making – that is aiming to fire up the imagination of parents and children with a delightful mix of recipes, ideas and stories.

Feed is well into production with a team of copywriters, designers and a photographer all working hard to bring it together. Our target is to publish Feed late Autumn 2016 launch, and to get it off to the best start possible, we're on the lookout for any marketeers who can help to market the publication.

If you have a marketing background and would like to, or know anyone who could assist and support the project could you email ruth@sameslittlejohns.co.uk

Want a preview of the recipes to come? We need recipe testers! If you would like to get involved in this way email kitchen@marlborough.cornwall.sch.uk to get the lowdown from Jess.

You can follow progress of Feed coming together on Facebook - Feed Cook Book and Twitter - @feedcookbook

Table Tennis

The early morning school club is proving popular. If your child hasn't managed to get a place this term, there is always Falmouth Docks Table Tennis Club based at Penryn College and held on Thursdays from 19:00-20:30 at Penryn College.

It is for all ages (children and adults).

St Pirans' Day – Saturday 5th March

Details of arrangements to be sent closer to the day, but Marlborough children have been invited to dance and to sing in the town centre. We hope to see as many of the school community there as possible. Oll an gwella...
